THE GREAT RAILROAD EXCURSION FROM THE

The Raltimore papers of yesterday morning contain full and glowing accounts of the reception in that city, on Saturday last, of the municipal authorities of Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chilicothe, and other distinguished citizens of the West. The American introduces its detailed account of the pageant with the following remarks:

the following remarks:

"At break of day on Saturday the note of preparation was visible throughout the city, indicative of the general introduction that prevailed in reference to the visit of the city authorities and distinguished citiens of Cintinual; St. Louis, and Chilicothe. The national flag was spread to the breeze in every direction, mottees were being extended across the streets, expressive of the gratification of our citizens, and the Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company, after a night of labor, were completing the decorations of their triumphal arch in front of the Maryland Institute
The fronts of a number of houses on Baltimore street, and after a night of labor, were competent use accounts of their triumphal arch in front of the Maryland Institute. The fronts of a number of houses on Baltimore street, and on Entaw, Madison, Charles, Fayette, and Monument streets, through which the procession was to pass, were also being decorated with flags, bunting, &c., presenting a gala appearance, such as has not been witnessed in Baltimore for many years. The sun shone out with unclouded splendor, as if old Sol himself seemed anxious to add his quota to the warmth of the reception; and, indeed, his heat would have been overpowering but for the cooling west wind that wafted in undulating folds the gay streamers and drapery which met the eye in every direction.

"Soon, too, the busy movements of the police in their next equipments, the assembling of the military and other hodies who designed participating in the pageant, heightened expectation, whilst the stirring strains of music added a zest to the occasion, which, as time wore on, infused a degree of enthusiasm into all classes of our citizens, who soon began to throug the windows, housetops, and side-walks throughout the entire line of the procession."

We give below a list of the guests, as furnished by the Baltimore papers :

The Independence of Brussels contains the following Paris communication on the interview between Lord Pal-merston and Count de Persigny:

"The following is a fact, the correctness of which I can guaranty. Lord Palmerston two days ago had a long conference with Count de Persigny, when the English minister pointed out to the French ambussador that the situation of affairs in India was such that a considerable display of force had become necessary. His lordship added that it would be impossible for England to send fresh reinforcements to China, and demanded for this lat-ter war, in case it should continue, the active co-operater war, in case it should continue, the active co-opera-tion of France. Count de Persigny promised to transmit Lord Palmerston's request without delay to the Emperor. Will the British cabinet succeed in obtaining the aid it saks for? That I cannot say. What leads to the belief that everything that the imperial government can possi-bly do will be done is the constantly increasing good un-derstanding between the two governments." Just think how the Chinese must be bewildered when

APPAIRS IN INDIA.

The London Star of the 3d inst. closes an article on Indian affairs as follows :

We have been reaping the result of India-House rule—constant outbreaks. Insensible to the blessings of our boasted civilization and of English government, the people are always ready to cast it off; an interval- of five years without an outbreak is almost unknown in India. We have only just recovered from a Santal insurrection, R. R. Nevins, Ohio Statesman.

[Note by the my-rier.] Mr. Farnham left Washington in the s. 20 train with his three daughters for a summer tour to Long Bra...h. Lake George, Burlington, Montreal, and the White mountains, and seemed to anticipate the trip with great pleasure. Friends who saw him at the cars remarked that he was in better than his upon spirits.

New York, July 20.—A terrific storm passed over Rochester this afternoon. The rain, mingled with half fell in torrents. The flashes of lightning were startling A large number of windows were broken by the half stories, and it is feared that much damage has been done to corn and fruit in the vicinity.

Mr. Bargy is a young man of fine character and noble impulses, and, as might naturally be expected, is intensely distressed at the truly sad event.

Death of Robert Farsham.—Our citizens were yesterday startled by the intelligence that our respected fellow-citizen, Robert Farsham, was suddenly killed near Wilmington, Delaware, at half-past eleven o clock in the morning. A telegraph despatch states that while the friin from Baltimore was waiting at Stanton for the Philadelphia train, Mr. Farsham left the car, and was standing on the track when the train approached and struck him before he had time to get out of the way, killing him instantly, and shockingly mangling his body. He was in company with his three daughters on their way to the North. The remains of Mr. Farsham were subject; a History of Party Conventions in the United States; a Histor of Alien Zoffrage; the Letters signed Madison in defence of the Ame can Party, and that of Governor Wise against it; the Alien and Scalid Laws and their bletery; the Conventions of 1856, with the seven votes thereon, an illisation laws; Extracts from the Speeches noted Abparties, and deep bilicons, illustrative of the position of the parties, as the speeches of Southern Men, indicating souther sentiment; a Histor of the subject of the Patribution of the Path Lands, with Mr. Clay's report thereon; an Extract of Mr. Grandy's a port and Mr. Faulkner's letter on the same subject; a History of the several Endroad Grant made by Congress; Mr. Toomba's Lecture of Siavery; the Virginia and Kentucky resolutions of 1798 and 39; the Ordinances of 1784 and 87; Mr. Calionu's Fort Hill address; a Histor of Deposite, Bargain, and Intripae; and many other things too name ones to mention. In fact, it is a single volume with the matter of ever political subject compressed into it that is now a subject of discussion or likely to be.
